Research (since 2005):

“Social Media’s Effect on Consumer Perception of Organizational Reputation and Innovation” – a study that revealed that the majority of American consumers want organizations to interact with them through social media. The study also showed that the majority of consumers consider organizations using social media as innovative and that the use of social media can improve an organization’s reputation.
Assisted principal researcher with due diligence, protocol, paper and focus group designs, fact checking, conclusions and recommendations. (June 2009)

“Medical Society of New Jersey Membership Attitudes” survey. Its purpose was to increase membership in Atlantic and Cape May counties. Supervised all survey activities from “client meetings” through situation analysis, research questions and actions, implementation, results, analysis, conclusions and recommendations. Survey and results would serve as template and benchmark for other state chapters. Rowan PRAction [public relations student firm] carried out the survey and assisted with gathering results [SPSS] and preparing and editing copy. The hypothesis was that the Medical Society of New Jersey needed to create a plan that would increase its membership in target counties. In addition, this plan needed to strive to reach a younger audience, as they are the future of [almost] any organization. (April 2008)

“NSPRA Accreditation Candidate Survey” – to determine effects of professional accreditation on school communicators’ position – including respect, support and salary. Served on design and implementation committee. Reviewed results, prepared conclusions, analysis and *Since recommendations. (November 2007)

“Gannett/Courier-Post research into Philadelphia Phillies crisis communication – and its effect on the team’s image.” Supervised a team of five Rowan University seniors from situation analysis to designing protocol for survey research questions and research actions and constructing a framework for a Phillies crisis plan. Oversaw entire project that was concluded and published six weeks after Courier-Post request. (September 2006)

Philadelphia Broadcast Pioneers Membership Survey to determine the organization’s future. Conducted situation analysis research sessions, constructed protocol, designed survey instrument, compiled, analysis, drew response conclusions and made recommendations. (November 2005)
